

PAINTING TROLL SKIN

When I started my Moria army, I didn't have a clue how to paint a Cave Troll's skin. It seemed like the trickiest part due to the way it blends into the scales on the back. Here, I'll show you the technique I eventually developed.

1 Start by painting the skin with a mix of Bronzed Flesh and a little Chaos Black. Make sure you paint this color between the scales on the back too.

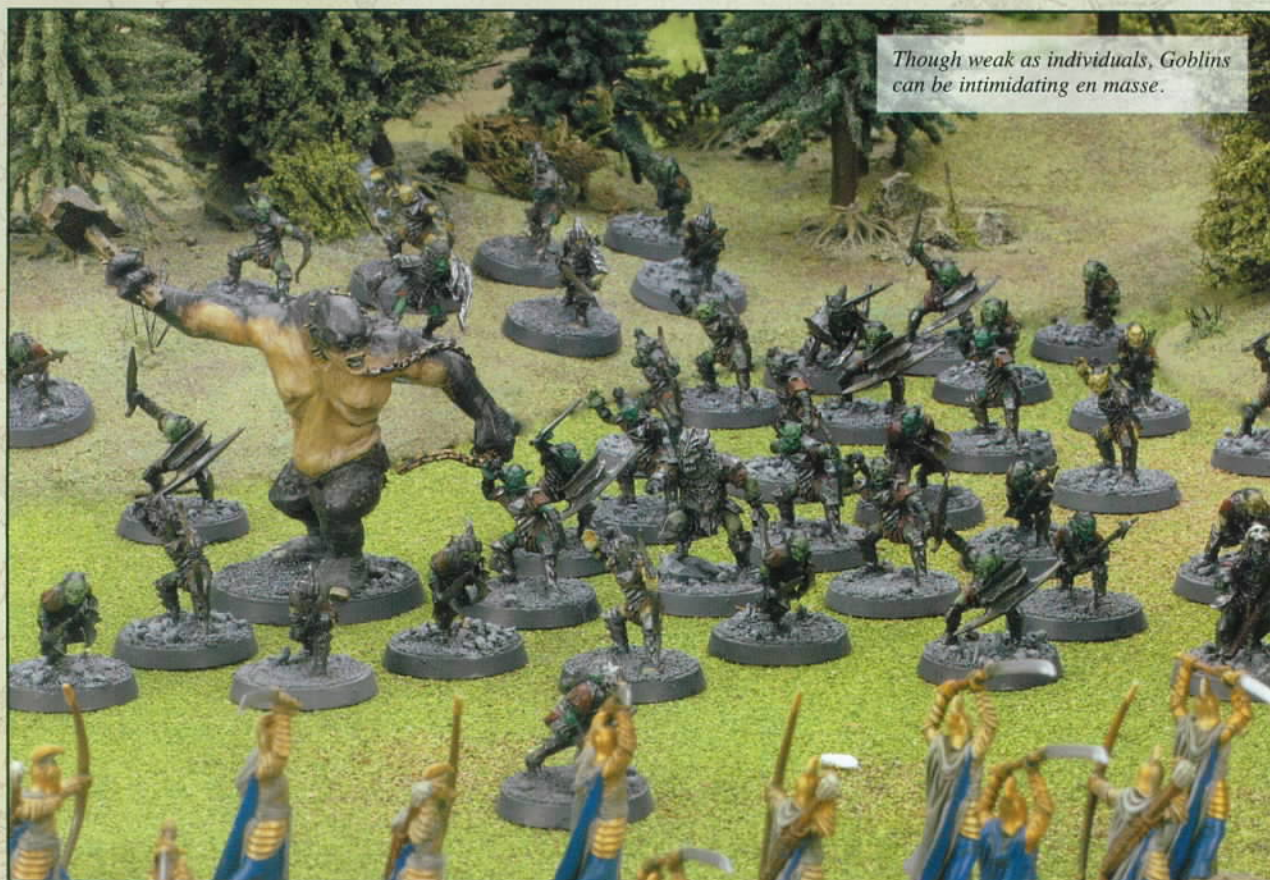

2 Next, drybrush Chaos Black over the edges of the skin to create a feathered effect. This step will help the skin blend into the rest of the model.

3 Water down an equal parts mix of Scorch Brown and Bestial Brown. Apply this mix over all the areas of skin.

4 To highlight the skin, mix increasing amounts of Skull White into the original base color for each subsequent layer.

Though weak as individuals, Goblins can be intimidating en masse.